

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1995 (Department of Health 1996). The public sector has also become an important employer of people with mental health problems.

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce. The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.

The Department of Health (1996) has identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS. The Department of Health (1996) has also identified the need to improve the mental health of the public sector workforce as a priority for the NHS.